EPSON DOWNS, May 29.-Lord Rosey's Sir Visto won the Derby to-day. T. Cannon's Curson ran second, and Visto is a bay colt, by Barcal-Loates. Curson is a brown colt, by Ocean Wave-Tip; Kirkconnel is a bay olt. by Royal Hampton-Sweet Sauce. Curson was ridden by Challoner and Bradford had the mount on Kirkconnel.

Fifteen horses ran. Chibiabos led until the horses were Calibabos led until the horses were descending the hill, when the Brook took a slight lead. Mr. Fairle's Solaro was

To-day's victory is the second Derby in succession for Lord Rosebery, who won the great English race last year with Ladas. It is remarkable as an in stance, ot alone peculiar in its lack of precedence, but in the fact that the youthful ambition of England's Prem-ier is thus doubly gratified. A boyish remark made by Lord Rosebery, fre-quently quoted since, was to the effect that his ambition would stop at nothing less than becoming Premier of England and winning the Derby.

Courtney would not say anything about the recent practice spins of his crew, but it is known that they have been hitting a fifty-a-minute clip when called upon to do so.

By 10.30 o'clock Courtney had all his men aboard, and when the Paris backed out of her dock half an hour later the crew took positions in the bow, where they could talk with their friends, who had chartered the steamboat W. C. Eigerton to accompany them down the

The Paris did not catch the Egerton until Fort Lafayette was reached. Meanwhile as the Paris came down the bay vessels of all sorts and descriptions saluted the crew, and were in turn greeted with the stentorian "Cornell! I yell yell yell yell enter the crew and the cornell."

When opposite the Crescent Athletic Club grounds a salute of three guns was fired from the latter's grounds at Hay Ridge. The saucy steam yacht Judge danced about the Paris, tooting her whistle encouragingly.

When the Paris caught the Egerton the students worked themselves into a delirious frenzy as they sighted the white-capped crew grouped on the steam of the steamship.

On the way down the college men festooned the steams with streamers of crimson, the college colors, and almost every one on board had some sort of a flag of the same lurid hue, and the college song was rendered with vigor.

The tooting and yelling kept up until a point half way to Sandy Hook was reached. There the Egerton made a long sweep, with a final encouraging screech of the whistle.

There were tears in the eyes of many of the owner as the Paris sweet past the Hook and out of sight. Such partings are always effecting and this one was particularly so, as no more popular crew ever rowed in the Cornell eight. On the next trip of the Paris the Glee. Mandolin and Hanjo Clubs of Cornell College will take passage to make a tour of England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales. These are the men who hope to lower the Eight of the Paris the Glee. ### GAYNOR AGAINST FIGHTS.

His Decision in the Coney Island A.

C. Misconstrued, He Says. Justice Gaynor, in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, this morning expressed himself very freely on the boxing exhibitions given at Coney Island. The matter came up on an application for a mandamus to compel the Mayor to issue a license to James Connors to run a voncert hall at Coney Island.

It was urged by counsel that the same principles governed this case as had governed this case as had governed the case of the Coney Island Athletic Club, in which Judge Gaynor granted a writ.

"I understand that they conduct prize fights down there under my decision in that case. I did not intend any such thing," said the Judge.

His offnor adjourned the matter for further argument on Friday next.
